Number 7 at Blackhawk Golf Club Chosen Most Beautifully Brutal Golf Hole™

JOHNSTON, Iowa – November 25, 2008 – The 575-yard, par 5 seventh hole at Blackhawk Golf Club, Spruce Grove, Alberta, has been selected as one of the winners of the John Deere Credit search for the 18 Most Beautifully Brutal Golf Holes™ in North America.

The Blackhawk Club hole was chosen from entries throughout the U.S. and Canada (excluding Quebec) by a panel of judges that included Jeff Babineau, editor of Golfweek; Pat Roberts, publisher of Golfdom; Joe Passov, architecture editor for Golf magazine; and Gary Van Sickle, golf editor for Sports Illustrated. The judges rated each entry on the basis of the hole's beauty as well as its difficulty.

This golf hole features a saddle-shaped fairway, eight large-lipped bunkers, and a small pot bunker that is difficult to escape. Roberts says it is a hole where "Risk equals reward, if you can carry the saddle and catch the downslope."

"The seventh hole at Blackhawk offers an outstanding example of how dedicated course owners, architects and superintendents create and maintain holes that golfers talk about the entire year," says Steve Knutson, Director of golf and turf leasing for John Deere Credit.

"John Deere Credit is proud to recognize these efforts and to provide golf courses throughout North America with equipment and lease products that help them keep courses beautiful and brutal," Knutson adds.

Martin Equipment Ltd, with locations in Edmonton and Calgary is the John Deere Golf distributor that works with Blackhawk Golf Club and serves the needs of beautifully brutal golf courses in Alberta.
