A big push for your compact tractor

AF10F

The Frontier™ AF10F Front Blade gives you all the benefits of a big pushing tool, but built for your compact utility tractor. Designed to fit 100 and 200 series loaders, this front blade has a working width of 60-inch (152.4 cm), making it perfect for small snow removal. The curved blade rolls material rather than pushes it for smoother, easier moving. Reversible cutting edges and skid shoes are standard.

The Frontier AF10F Front Blade is backed with a one-year warranty¹ and is one of nearly 600 Frontier products that turn your tractor into the workhorse it was built to be. To help you choose the right equipment for your operation, talk to your John Deere dealer, your exclusive source of Frontier Equipment.

Details and options that make a difference

Reversible metal cutting edge and base skid shoes are standard equipment. Urethane reversible cutting edge and skid shoes are optional.

Retaining pins secure the front blade in place for operation. No tools are needed.

A trip edge protects the blade, loader, and tractor if the cutting edge of the blade contacts an obstacle by allowing the blade to rotate forward.

Five adjustment positions with a total 30-degree rotation allow operators to move a load in any desired direction. Rotation angle is secured with a locking pin and clip.

The optional plow guide kit helps prevent curb and wall strikes by providing a visual for the location of the blade's outside edges

An optional rubber deflector kit decreases snow buildup on grill screen during snow removal.
